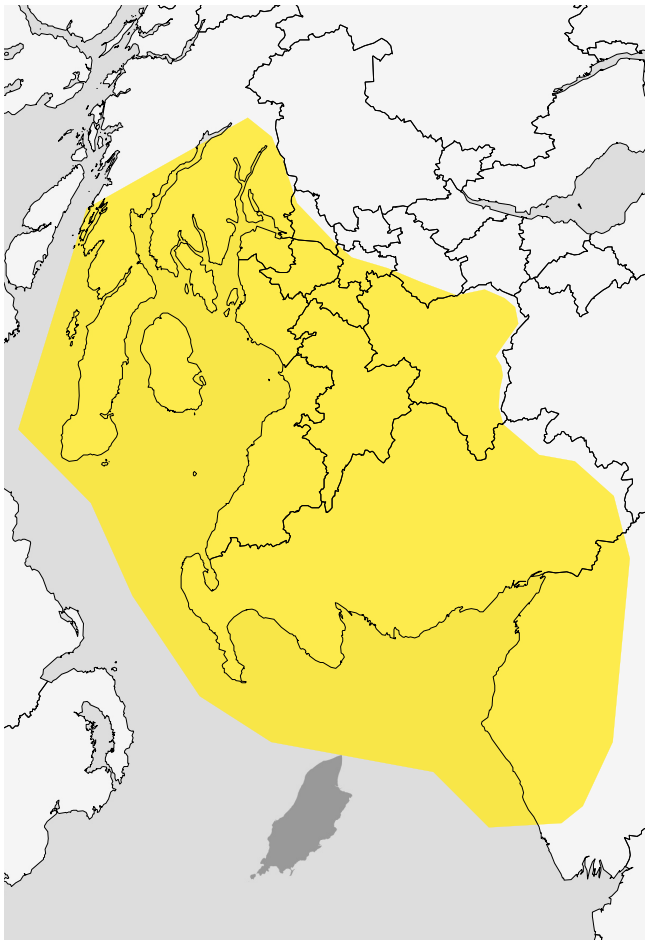
Yellow warning
Snow & Ice

Between
17:00 Fri 1 Dec 2023 and
11:00 Sat 2 Dec 2023



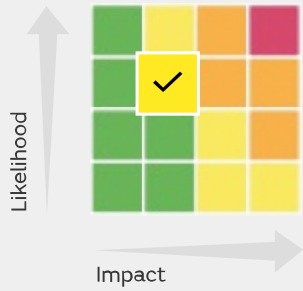
Showers are expected to move inland overnight leading to a risk of icy patches and also some snow over higher ground.

What to expect

- Some roads and railways likely to be affected with longer journey times by road, bus and train services
- Probably some icy patches on some untreated roads, pavements and cycle paths
- Some injuries from slips and falls on icy surfaces

Further details

Showers are expected to move inland overnight with a mixture of rain, sleet and snow falling onto sub-zero surfaces leading to a risk of icy patches. Snow is most likely over hills, especially across the south of Dumfries and Galloway and parts of Cumbria and may lead to small accumulations of around 1-3 cm above 200 metres.



✓ Medium likelihood of low impacts

What should I do?
Snowy, wintry weather can cause delays and make driving conditions dangerous. Keep yourself and others safe by planning your route, giving yourself extra time for your journey. Not needing to rush, reduces your risk of accidents, slips, and falls. Check for road closures or delays to public transport and amend plans if necessary.
If you need to make a journey on foot or by bike, try to use pavements along main roads which are likely to be less slippery.
If driving, make sure you have some essentials in your car in the event of any delays (e.g., warm clothing, food, water, a blanket, a torch, ice scraper/de icer, a warning triangle, high visibility vest and an in-car phone charger).
Be prepared for weather warnings to change quickly: when a weather warning is issued, the Met Office recommends staying up to date with the weather forecast in your area.

Reason for update

Area extended east and north east to allow for a greater risk of snow showers later in the night and Saturday morning.
